- This retrospective exhibition features a series of often hilarious yet disturbing installations created over a decade by American artist Mike Kelley.
- Young British artist Anya Gallaccio has made an installation in the elegant Nash Room which is inspired by the Regency architecture, and by her fascination with formal gardens designed to heighten the senses and create a discourse on 'love'.
- Genevieve Cadieux's huge photoworks present radically cropped parts of the human face and body on a cinematic scale.
- Larry Johnson, Karen Kilimnik, Raymond Pettibon, Jack Pierson
- This exhibition brings to Britain the most significant new tendencies in art from the USA.
- The first major exhibition since 1980 of the subversive Belgian artist, poet, writer and filmmaker Marcel Broodthaers.
- Mark Dion, Renee Green
- The second part of an exhibition that examines the current social and vernacular strands within contemporary US art.
- This exhibition is the first major survey of Nouvel's work in Britain and reflects the ICA's commitment to the presentation of the work of contemporary architects.

Dispersion
 [LOWER AND UPPER GALLERY]
 Curated by Polly Staple
 Henrik Olesen, Hito Steyerl, Seth Price, Anne Collier, Hilary Lloyd, Maria Eichhorn and Mark Leckey
Dispersion presents seven international artists who work with photography, film, video and performance. All of these artists explore the appropriation and circulation of images in contemporary society, examining the role of money, desire and power in our accelerated image economy - from the art market to the internet and art historical icons to pornography. Sean Snyder, Index is the first solo exhibition in a British institution by this leading American artist. Snyder is one of the most important proponents of the research-based practice that has emerged in the last decade, and is fascinated by the ongoing life of documentary information and images, from the Cold War to the Iraq War. A month-long season of artworks and live events addressing that central feature of human life - the act of speech. Pierre Bismuth, Paul Elliman, Chris Evans, Robert Filliou, Ryan Gander, Beatrice Gibson with Jamie McCarthy, Adam Pendleton, Falke Pisano, Seth Price, Manuel Saiz, Frances Stark, Mark Wilsher

2009
14 Nov - 22 Nov Calling Out Of Context

Calling Out Of Context is a new festival of experimental music and sound. For nine days, our main gallery becomes a performance space; the upper gallery a working recording studio; and the theatre hosts gigs, workshops and discussions. The festival features more than 40 performers and groups, revealing the vitality and relevance of the sonic avant-garde with new work and performances from participants including Lucky Dragons, Rhys Chatham, Gravetemple, Aaron Dilloway, Alexander Tucker, Seb Rochford, Micachu, Kammer Klang, The Red Krayola, AGF and Mira Calix

2009/2010
3 Dec - 31 Jan For the blind man in the dark room looking for the black cat that isn't there

Organised by Contemporary Art Museum St. Louis and curated by its chief curator, Anthony Huberman

anonymous, Dave Hullfish Bailey, Marcel Broodthaers, Sarah Crowner, Mariana Castillo Deball, Eric Duyckaerts, Ayşe Erkmen, Hans-Peter Feldmann, Peter Fischli & David Weiss, Rachel Harrison, Benoît Maire and Falke Pisano, Giorgio Morandi, Matt Mullican, Bruno Munari, Nashashibi/Skaer, Jimmy Raskin, Frances Stark, Rosemarie Trockel, Patrick van Caekenbergh and David William

The exhibition celebrates the speculative nature of knowledge, rejecting the common assumption that art is a code that needs cracking, and presenting works that employ nonknowledge, unlearning and productive confusion as ways to understand the world.

- 2010
17 Feb - 2 May Billy Childish: Unknowable but Certain
[LOWER AND UPPER GALLERY]
- Artist, musician and writer Billy Childish is a cult figure, and one who has gained an international following, but this is the first time a public institution has brought together a major solo exhibition to encompass his extraordinary career. His prodigious range of activities can best be understood as a total work of art - one which centres on his own persona. Unknowable but Certain presents the vitality of his recent work as a culmination of over three decades' engagement across different media.
- 2010
4 Jun - 15 Aug Oscar Tuazon: My Mistake
[LOWER GALLERY AND CONCOURSE]
- A solo exhibition by the American artist, writer and curator Oscar Tuazon. Comprised of both natural and industrial materials, Tuazon's structures reference minimalist sensibilities, DIY aesthetics and the formal language of architecture. At the ICA, Tuazon makes a radical, site-specific intervention in the exhibition spaces.
- 2010
9 Sep - 24 Oct Chto Delat (What is to be done?) - The Urgent Need to Struggle
[LOWER GALLERY AND CONCOURSE]
- This Russian collective, made up of artists, philosophers and writers, sees its diverse activities as a merging of political theory, art and activism. Formed in 2003, the group's ideas are rooted in their observations of post-perestroika Russia, and in principles of self-organisation and collectivism.
- The project at the ICA is realised by: Tsaplya (Olga Egorova), Nikolay Oleynikov, Gluklya (Natalya Pershina-Yakimanskaya), Nina Gasteva, Vladan Jeremic/Rena Rädle and Dmitry Vilensky.

25 Jun - 14 Sep Journal
[UPPER AND LOWER GALLERIES]
- This summer, the ICA invites international artists, theorists and writers to present individual artworks, events, moving image and talks throughout the ICA and online. Each artist explores both historical events and more gradual social changes in their work: from responding to unusual circumstances created by major events, such as the wake of the 2011 Japan earthquake, or the residual post-invasion environment in Iraq, to simply finding unique connections through on- and offline chance encounters with public spaces and people. Rather than illustrating a circumscribed theme, Journal offers a looser configuration of individual projects to consider the artist's role in bringing focus to the changing world around us.
- 2014
15 Jul - 24 Aug Tove Jansson: Tales from the Nordic Archipelago
[FOX READING ROOM]

6 May - 2 Jul Stuart Middleton: Beat
[UPPER AND LOWER GALLERIES]

Middleton's exhibition features a new video and a site-specific installation developed in response to the architecture of the Lower Gallery. This involves the removal of existing walls and suspended ceiling in addition to the construction of a wooden platform made from reclaimed domestic floorboards. The structure references the buildings used in modern industrial agriculture to house livestock, upcycled interior design projects and historical site-specific artworks. The scale of the installation foregrounds a critical position on the concept of 'landscape' as a product of human design composed from conflicting ideological positions.

Situated in the Upper Gallery is a new stop-frame animation commissioned by the ICA. The video shows an undernourished dog moving around in a brightly lit cell that recalls the white-washed austerity of vivisection laboratories, euthanasia clinics and art galleries.
